Up to an 85% reduction in labor!

The lowest installed cost!

RS Means® is a division of REED Construction Data, LLC and it is a widely accepted publication used for estimating construction cost data.

RS Means budgets that each EMT compression fitting will cost an electrician $8.21 per fitting with a standard hourly rate of $72.85 per hour. Our patented EMT Push-In Connector averages a labor cost of under $1!

Certifications & Compliances:

- UL and cUL Listed
- UL File No. E-22132

Standard Materials & Finishes:

- Body - zinc die cast, natural
- Gasket - polyethylene, natural

Step 1

- Make sure conduit is cut and burs cleaned before installing Push-in EMT fitting into the box and tightening the locknut.

Step 2

- Push-in EMT fitting onto correctly sized conduit.
